

Remote-node PCB functional architecture

PCB-level view of sensing, timing, supervision, processing, image capture, switched power, and external interfaces

The Heltec module remains the low-power supervisory layer, enabling higher-power compute, camera, radio, and external loads only when required.